Dear Sir/Madam,

With over 20 years of experience in IT, including 10 years in programming and administration, I bring a wealth of technical knowledge and hands-on expertise that would be a valuable asset to your organization. My career has been defined by a deep commitment to not only delivering high-quality results but also fostering a collaborative and supportive work environment.

I am a communicative and friendly professional who values the exchange of information. I enjoy sharing my knowledge with colleagues and, in turn, I am always eager to learn from others, treating each new piece of information as an opportunity for personal and professional growth. I thrive in small, close-knit teams rather than large corporate environments, where I can make a meaningful impact and contribute to the overall success of the team. To me, the results of the work I produce and the value I bring to the company are far more important than the status or salary that might come with a corporate title. I take pride in working as part of a team where every member is treated like family. I believe this is the foundation of effective collaboration, as it promotes trust, respect, and a shared sense of purpose. My focus is on personal and collective growth within a team, where I can contribute not just as a professional but as an active and engaged team member.

My diverse skills in IT and programming have made me a versatile professional, capable of adapting and excelling in various roles and industries. I am confident that my background and mindset would enable me to contribute meaningfully to your team, helping to achieve both personal and company goals. I would be happy to meet with you to discuss how my experience and values align with your company's needs. Thank you in advance for your consideration, and I look forward to the opportunity to speak further.

Sincerely,
Ruslan Polovyi
